What the Wrestlers, Boxers and Base Ball Artists Are Doing.

The Cub players who participated in the recent series with the White Sox received a surprise party of their own. The letter from the National Commission carried a check amounting to $14,947.43, the Cubs' share of the money in the series. The check was not all, however. In another letter was the surprising news of fines to the amount of $220 having been plastered against some of the athletes and the P. L. himself. The assessments were the result of Chance having piloted some of his squad in a charge against Umpire O'Laughlin in the ninth inning of the first game of the series, when the Sox won out with a three-run rally.

Clark Griffith says the greatest pitcher he's seen in the National League this season is Alexander. "He not only has everything," says the Little Fox, but he's game to the end of it. You couldn't land his goat with a regiment of cavalry."

Chips of the old block are making good in football this year. At Yale Walter Camp Jr. is playing great football. In fact, he was really the sensation of a game recently, and will undoubtedly be given a chance to make good in the back field. His father, Walter Camp, is the dean of football at Yale. Baker, the Princeton halfback, is the son of a former Princeton star. The fathers of these two youths opposed each other in the famous Princeton-Yale game in 1881 which ended in a 0-to-0 tie.

This is the way Happy Hogan goes after the bushers who apply to him for a job:

"What do you know about catching?" was the formula with which Hogan started his catechism.

"Oh, I know the game, all right," would be the answer. "I am a better catcher than Brown."

"Do you think you are a better catcher than I am?" the Vernon chief would continue.

"No, not at all," would be the absurd answer from the candidate for a job.

Then Hap would muse: "There must be something wrong, for Brown is a better catcher than I am, and you say that I am a better man than you are."

After allowing this to sink in, Hogan would fire some questions concerning baseball rules at them.

"Take a situation like this: Three men on the bases, in a big field, and the batter strikes at a wild one after two strikes have been called on him. The ball goes over the catcher's head and he doesn't have a chance to get it back. How many would score?"

Most of the candidates wag their heads wisely and answer "four," forgetting that the man who struck at that wild ball is out and would have no chance to make the circuit.

Following that query there would be another of this order. "A man on second, another on third and one out. The batter sends a fly to deep left field and the leftfielder, after catching the ball, doubles the man at second. In the meantime, and before the ball has reached second on the throw, the runner from third had crossed the plate. Does that run count?"

About 75 per cent of the bushers think that the run doesn't count.

Hogan proceeds to pick them to pieces and they feel like asking permission to retire.

The family of the late Mrs. Minerva McLean desire to thank the many friends for their kindness in their recent bereavement.

Locals

Mr. Will Cooper was on Maui this week in the interests of the Star Subscription Contest.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clark were passengers to Honolulu by the Claudine Tuesday evening.

Messrs. W. O. Aiken and Edgar Morton of Makawao were in Wailuku attending Court on Monday of this week.

The local hostilities were crowded to overflowing this week. The influx of visitors and business men is unprecedented.

It is rumored that Mr. E. R. Bevans lately bookkeeper of the Paia Store, is to be Collector of Customs at Kahului after the New Year.

Mrs. W. A. McKay has been under the weather for a few days past. Her place as teacher in the school has been filled temporarily by Mrs. Copeland.

A peculiar coincidence occurred the other night at the Maui Hotel. On the register there appeared the names of Mr. Grey, Mr. Brown, Mr. Green and Mr. White.

Mr. F. Sabin of Honolulu, lately on the Star staff, passed through last Saturday, to take temporary charge of the Hawaii Herald, in the absence of Editor Connors, who leaves on an extended trip to the coast.

The grading of the new Union Church premises and the adjacent lots has been begun. It is hoped that this work is only the beginning of a uniform frontage to extend from Mr. D. H. Case's corner to the farther side of the school premises.

A large congregation were present at the Thanksgiving services of the Union Church last Sunday evening. The anthem by the choir was much appreciated, as was also the offertory solo by Mr. Raymond C. Brown. The pastor's discourse was timely and to the point and was enjoyed by all.

Registered at Maui Hotel:—Dr. R. B. M. Birch, R. W. Gray, Wm. Green, J. B. Stewart, C. F. White, J. E. Hughes, Dr. C. Sayres, J. J. Hurd, Will J. Cooper, J. Oswald Luttet, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. The Kahului Railroad Company has lately improved (?) its premises in Wailuku by the erection of an eight-foot fence, and by moving the freight house up against the passenger depot. Inasmuch as the only approach to the depot now open to pedestrians is a narrow roadway jammed with hacks at traintime, the improvement is greatly appreciated by intending passengers.

Mrs. Rowland B. Dodge received the sad news this of the sudden death of her sister, Miss Isabelle Sinclair, at her home at Worcester, Massachusetts. Mrs. Dodge had until a few weeks ago expected that her sister might visit her in Wailuku. But her poor health had prevented this visit. Her sister's death was caused by rheumatism reaching the heart.

On Friday evening of last week the Wailuku Card Club was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Penhallow. Many who are not members of the club were invited to meet Misses Shoemaker and Urquhart, who have been visiting at the Penhallow's for the past week or two. Progressive pedro and bridge whist occupied the early part of the evening. Dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the card-playing, after which several musical numbers by the guests of honor brought a most delightful evening to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Enos Vicent of Wailuku very pleasantly celebrated their first wedding anniversary on Wednesday evening by giving a delightful dinner party to those who were present a year ago, when they were married. A little after six the delicious dinner was served. The decorations were elaborate and beautiful and all made of paper in honor of the paper wedding. The guests were Hon. and Mrs. S. B. Kingsbury, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Case, Miss Pieper and Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Dodge.

CARD OF THANKS.

The family of the late Mrs. Mary Sage Soares take this means of thanking their friends for the beautiful floral tributes, and others who assisted them in their bereavement.
